THE CLASS PROPHECY

As I am sitting in the audience waiting for the play to begin, the curtain slowly rises and I see on the stage of life, Frank Ashbrook driving a Standard Oil Truck, following him his pal Fred Revels, principal of Sheeter Bog.

The next curtain rises on a school house and here I see Vera Epting, Naomi Black, Frances Hagood, Wyoline Philman teaching kids the three R's.

Next I see New York City and Alice Ferrell (Croley) playing the piano and Earl Croley crooning over the N. E. C., winning their way into newly married couples hearts. Following them, a Hill Billy Band with Jack Smith (from Ga.) and Mitchell Gaskin, each playing three instruments and Jack Hayward tap dancing on the stage to their sweet refrain.

The next act begins and we see a university and Pasco's Roneo, Clark Ghiselin breaking the hearts of all the Juliets.

Suddenly the room is filled with ether and Elaine Gilmore, Christine Sanders, Loyalle Mickler, Maragaret Siles are seen in an operating room cleaning the instruments.

I suddenly hear the sound of pages turning and I see Mary Ellen Kelly, Estelle Godwin, Alice Kelly, as bookkeepers for grouchy employers.

I look up at the ceiling and an airplane is in the sky with Horacestine Simms and Ruth Eldrige quieting nervous passengers in the plane with their silly giggles.

What a lovely little cottage! Doris Sessions (formerly Bennett) and Carl Sessions are seen working in a small flower garden.

As a Private secretary, Loyce Falls is seen with her boss Don Conlee, a big business man in Chicago. Her pal Bonnie Mae Madill is seen in Zephyrhills, Fla., as a secretary for the Krusen Lumber Co.

Maud Truitt, Betty Hines, Sara Catherine McIntosh, and Juanita Stewart are seen as professional business women in New York City.

Bernice Tice and Ethel Whittington will never leave school boys alone--espically the Juniors.

Frances Woods, Lawrence Pitts, Rosco Edenfield, and Brence Roberts are seen as foremen in the Lacochoe Mill.

Warren Daball is seen in college taking a chemical engineering course, we are sure that he will be a success.

I look to see the members of the orchestra and who should I see but James Ward playing his coronet for one of the best swing orchestra in the country.

Again the curtain rises on New York City and walking down the street in the latest fashions I see Ellie Jane couey in all her glory vamping the city slickers.

The next act begins on a tract of land and in the middle of some pine trees I see two houses and in the doorway of the first house I see Edith Alsobrook visiting with her neighbor in the next house, Elma Thrift. Their husbands are foremen of the Compressco Camp.

Suddenly the room is filled with the smell of orange blossoms and I see Marvin Hines in a large grove. Before I entered the theatre a business man told me that he was one of the town's richest men but he was a single man because he couldn't decide between two girls that he goes with.

Do you want your picture taken? If you do Mary Elizabeth Smith and Mary Osburn, who have taken over Cookman Robert's business will be glad to take a swell photo of any of their old friends.

Paris Fashions!! Louise Driskell, designer of the very latest will gladly take an order and Penelope Costakis will make the dresses for her.

George Kenfield has joined the Army Band. He is on the front row so I am sure that one can see him.

Here I am in the hill of Virginia and I see Helen Costakis as the wife of a citizen of Virginia. Through a friendship that developed by correspondence he proposed to her and she accepted.

As for Mary Alice Smith and Alberta Buchanan there is no need of prophesising as they have beaten our time.

The curtain slowly drops down on the last act and the play is over after another performance.

The Will of the Senoir Class of 1938

We, the senior class of One thousand Nine-hundred and Thirty-eight, of the city of Dade City, county of Pasco, and State of Florida, do make, publish, and declare this our last will and testament, that is to say;

To Miss Percival we leave three packages of chewing gum; to Mrs. Huckabay an orderly home room; to Mrs. Weyher we leave two bars of candy and many gray hairs; to Miss Lock a quiet library.

To the Juniors we leave the guidance of the school. May you direct it with such hitherto unparalleled results as we the class of '38 have done.

I, Jack Hayward give and bequeath my swingability to Gene Phillips to be used accordingly.

I, George Kenfield, give and bequeath my professorship to Fred Kenfield to be used as moderately as I myself did.

I, Bonnie Mae Madill give and bequeath my ability to "hook" them from other schools to Frances Compher.

I Frances Woods, give and bequeath my energy and ability to get around quickly to Lawrence Auvil.

I, Clafk Ghiselin, give and bequeath my yodeling to Hal Dieffenwierth.

I, Earl Croley, give and bequeath my love-life to Ree Wee Hyatt, to be used with less secrecy than I have used.

I, Alice Ferrell, give and bequeath my man-management to Charlotte St. John.

I, Bill Daboll, give and bequeath my "nosey" ability to Charles Berkstresser to use for the future Red and Black.

I, Vera Epting, give and bequeath my dāminutiveness to Neta Gruetzmacher.

In testimony thereof we have hereupon set our hand this Twentythird day of May, in the year of One-thousand Nine-hundred and Thirty-eight.

Senior Class of 1938

Jack Smith — President
Jack Hayward — Vice President
Maude Smith — Sec and Treas.

Signed, published, and declared by the above name, Class of 1938, as and for its last will and testimony in the presence of us and each of us, who in its presence, and in its requests and in the presence of each other have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1938

Of those who started here some some began in the present Science Hall and some in the new grammar school.

The years fly! Because of numerous schools burning and the pupils being sent to Dade City school the eighth grade students were sent to the present day Freshmen building. Seventeen of the present class were joined by twelve from these various schools.

In the fall of 34' sixty-six were enrolled as Freshmen in Pasco. So you can see the class has shrunk. Mrs.
Huckabay and Mrs. Weyher had us that year, and to them we owe much, as they helped us continually to adjust ourselves to this school. The next year we were transferred to the Sophomore Hall, now occupied by Freshmen. There we were cared for by Mr. Wilderson, Miss Thompson, Mrs.
Waldorf and Mr. Mullens. We must have learned much in a year for some served in the Junior-Senior banquet. These were: Doris Bennett, Mary Stapleton, Loyalle Mickler, Betty Hines, Mary Alice Smith, Christine Sanders, Ethel Whittington, Addie Mae Scessions, Ruth Bellamy, Bonnie
Mae Madill, Alvin Herrin, Lawrence Pitts, Marvin Hines, Ted Dickson, Frank Ashbrook, Loyal Hayward, Earl Croley,
Wilbur North, Gene Phillips, James McClellan, Warren
Daboll, and Francis Woods.

The next year we were in the same building without Mr. Mullens. Now we were going some where. First we had the Junior play in which Doris Bennett, Loyalle Mickler, Sara Catherine McIntosh, Maude Truitt, Louise Driskell, Alvin Herrin, Gene Phillips, Wilbur North, Marvin Hines and Mildred Harper. Then we gave the Junior-Senior Banquet. Another milestone.

This year we lead the school, although the Juniors seem to doubt this. It is tough sledding at times this year. However we have some things to cheer us up. On April first we took the whole day for a picnic. Then on April 22, the Seniors were given a banquet by the Juniors. Clark Ghiselin and Gloria Darden reigned king and queen of the royal court. The Seniors also established the standard ring for the classes to come. We also set the precedents of an class project and a year book.

May 22 the Bacculareate sermon was given by Rev. Stulk.
May 23 the class, forty-nine in number were presented with diplomas by the Chairman of the County School Board, Mr. Ruel Platt. We believe Pasco High lost one of the best classes ever to be graduated from the institution.

THE JUNIOR SENIOR BANQUET INCLUDES CORONATION SCENE

On Friday evening, April 29, at the Woman's Club, the Pasco High school juniors entertained the seniors, the faculty, and school officials with an elaborate banquet.

In a perfect bower of greenery, pastel spring flowers, and candles, covers were laid for about 130 people. Handpainted menu booklets bearing the pictures of a royal page, and bouquets of colored spice drops on lace paper mats added to the color of the tables.

Between the courses popular songs, the words for which were in booklets at each place, were sung; drum and piano numbers were rendered by Gene Phillips, Norma Louise Hawes, and Mrs. Bucklin; and bright colored poppers containing paper hats, trinkets, and fortunes were passed.

At the close of the meal the guests filed outside for a brief intermission with a chance to parade their finery, while tables and chairs were moved back in order to seat people comfortably for the program.

The program centered around a royal court. The stage was appropriately set as a throne room, with ornate throne chairs on a raised platform, backed by a gorgeous hanging. Palms and flowers added to the richness of the setting.

Hal Dieffenwierth, as lord chamberlain, called the members of the royal court up from the assembled company. These were Jack Smith, Marvin Hines, William Hyatt, and J. W. Sanders, who served as courtiers. Clark Ghiselin, who received the greatest number of votes and was thus elected king of the realm of Pasco, was then called and was crowned and presented with his scepter by the lord chamberlain.

When Clark had taken his place on his throne two courtiers were sent to escort his queen, Gloria Dar-

Mrs. Weyher's Room

Sarah Cassel Woodward, Emma Sedwick, and Cleo Pippins were absent last week.

Mary Lee Madill, our home room president, made a talk last Tuesday on what we, the Freshmen, ought to set as our goal in high school.

This room has turned in $1.20 towards the bleachers fund.

In the magazine contest, the Freshmen Z have made a good showing. We elected two sides, the green and the gold. Peggy Marks is captain of the gold team and Jimmy Jamerson is captain of the green team. The first day $14 worth of subscriptions were turned in for the school and we made half of it. The Seniors are ahead now by $2 but we are not beaten yet.

We are pleased to welcome a new student to our room. His name is John Sessoms and he formerly attended school in St. Petersburg.

The Athletic Association Sponsors Annual Magazine Contest

The Athletic Association is sponsoring a magazine selling contest to raise funds to take care of football and basketball expenses. Troy Jones is managing the contest. The school has been divided into two teams, the green and the gold. Each home room has a green and a gold captain. Prizes are given individuals for sales and a prize will be given the home room selling the most subscriptions.

One half the proceeds from each subscription will be turned over to the athletic association.

The magazine contest is an annual affair at Pasco High and many of
