Our Alma Mater

We are the (girls, boys) of old Zephyr High,
To her we'll ever be true,
Where the girls are the fairest,
The boys are the squarest,
Of any school we ever knew.

We are the (girls, boys) of old Zephyr High,
Down where the old Bulldogs play,
In all kinds of weather,
We'll all stick together,
For Zephyrhills all of the way.
To The Graduates of 1960:

It has been a privilege to work with the Seniors of 1959-1960. You have exemplified many of the highest ideals of scholarship, citizenship, and school spirit. The standards which you have set are a fine example for all classes which will come after you.

I wish each of you success in your future undertakings. I sincerely hope that your school experiences will have contributed to your ability to arrive at the many worthwhile goals that you have set for yourselves.

Sincerely yours,

Charles A. Henderson
To you... Mrs. Alpha Gill... because of your leadership and untiring dedication and service to students and school... because of the outstanding commercial department, which is evidence of your teaching ability... and, because we here at Zephyrhills High School appreciate you so... we proudly dedicate this the 1960 "Zephilsco."

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of 1960, of Zephyrhills High School, being of sound (?) mind, memory, and body, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament:

To Z.H.S., our beloved Alma Mater, we leave the now silent halls down which our star-studded feet have noiselessly trod and the rafters from which we have swung.

To Mr. Henderson, we present an autographed picture of the Class of '60 to hang in his office, so he can say he "knew us when".

To the best Senior sponsor in the world, Coach Clements, we leave all our left-over souvenirs of Washington D.C.

To Mrs. Swing and Mrs. Hall, our ever-smiling Zephilisco sponsors, we bestow our sincere appreciation for all their help and for allowing us to bring our yo-yos to Annual Staff meetings.

To the Junior Class, we leave the secret word for entering the Senior homeroom and the Seniors' collection of Yogi Bear pin-ups.

To the Sophomore Class, we leave our Junior Spacemen helmets and slightly-used Mardi Gras favors. To the Freshman Class, we impart our slightly tarnished enthusiasm and our "never say die" spirit.

To the faculty, we entrust the memory of our intelligent, angelic countenance as we slept through classes.

To the band, we relinquish the best Thursday evenings of our lives.

To the football, basketball, baseball, and track teams, and all other Z.H.S. players, we leave our hoarse throats and bedraggled crepe paper pom-poms.

To the Zephilisco Staff of 1961, we disclose our dual slogans of "What, me worry?" and "Let George do it."

I, Robert Campbell, Senior Class President, leave Ron Anderson my ability to spell trigon-er-TRIG and to pass this class by doing my homework in other teachers' classes.

I, Patty Sante, will to Carol Smith my ability to go steady with a boy for two years and then marry him, and to Janet Fisher, my "natural" blonde hair and my red leotards.

I, Vivian Geiger, leave to Alice Bembry my delicate blush and my dimples, and to Marion Canady I leave my freckles and my sophisticated giggle.

I, Norman Kirkland, will to Shirley Temples my car, "Nellie Bell", if she is crazy enough to take "her."

I, Frankie Coell, give to Ronald Eskelund my maroon angora muffler, so he can survive the open windows on cold days in Mrs. Gill's class.

I, Jeannette Howell, leave to Merrily Baggett my shy, bashful ways toward boys and my quiet, untalkative nature.

I, Della Fae Smith, relinquish to Joan Shannon my record of making the highest grades in the Senior Class, and to Frances McKeen my ability to decorate my left hand with ring.

I, Cathy Skinner, entrust to Mary Pattie my ability to decide on one color to keep my hair - olive green.

I, Bob Baggett, would will to Richard Adams my looks, personality, brains, wit, money, and talent, but I don't want people to think I'm conceited.

I, Juanita Summerall, pass on to Fay McAllister my skill at standing on my head in Physical Education and also my house slippers.

I, Lee Blackdon, relinquish to Richard Miles my title of "Best Looking Senior Boy."

I, Irene Nichols, give to Jeannette Karpp my old, battered-up notebook with its secret compartment for cheat sheets and boy's phone numbers.

I, Edelma Sergey, will to Don Dunford my pantaloons and gloves to keep warm in American Problems class, in case he fails and is crazy enough to take it again.

I, Gary Martinson, bequeath to Wayne Carter my ability to make straight A's in Physics (?) - and my one fault of lying!

I, Libby Jarrett, impart to Betty Sanford my poker face and shy ways around school, and to Mary Alice Gill I leave my trophy for being the only girl with the "intestinal fortitude" to join the Road-e-o for two years.

I, Janet Weich, leave to Dottie Daniels my height of 4'3" and the presidency of D.C.T.

I, J.W. Wells, give to Woody Cone my keen eyesight and my small, dainty feet!

I, Linda Lou Lohrum, will to Ronald Tamney my reserved manner and shy giggle and my ability to argue with the teacher and not get a detention.

I, Carolyn Jarrett, will to Mollie Pope my ability to type with my gloves.

I, Joe Laviano, leave to Judy Deen my quiet nature and to Enzell Ward my nasty disposition.

I, Barbara Haynes, leave to Glenna Nichols my natural blonde hair and my unused bottle of peroxide.

I, Lynn Nichols, leave to Donnie Stokes my clean-cut language and to John Goodrow I leave my old diet book.

I, Richard Reisen, relinquish to Burman Baker my aptitude for giving speeches anywhere except in speech class.

I, Janice Houck, bequeath to Constance Waldron my title of "Friendliest Senior Girl," and to Ann Fazio I leave my big blue eyes.

I, Larry Benjamin, will to Art McKendree my bow-legs and record of never dating the same girl twice.

I, Dedi Anderson, bequeath to Lola Padgett my contagious enthusiasm, in hopes it will catch on at pep rallies; and to Judy Williamson I leave my now famous trait of being the person to whom is most often spoken three little words - "You're late again!"

I, Jerry Peters, leave to Paul Yebba my ability to have a car and a girl and keep both going steady.

I, Brenda Daughtery, bequeath to Melissa Lippincott the lost chord which I found during my Senior year in band.

Page Eighteen
LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

I, Bill Simons, will to Elizabeth Witt my position as anchor man in Trig class and the one theorem which always confused me: "In equal circles, equal chords are equally distant from the center."
I, Elaine McKendree, leave to Alice Wintersteen my reputation for never driving over the speed limit; just over innocent pedestrians!
I, Dick Dayton, bestow upon Linda Allen my library of horror comics for quiet evenings at home, and my unabridged copy of "The Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire", which makes a cool footstool.
I, Donna Campbell, will to Judy Carlson my ability to type 150 words a minute with my left thumb; and to David Smith my inane laugh.
I, Barbara Adams, leave to Linda Graeber my patience to wait for that "special someone" a long time.
I, Gary Crist, give to Carolyn Maddux my old, worn-out sax reeds, and to Keith Johnson I bequeath my wonderful privilege of having no lunches.
I, Bonnie Reed, do will to Doris Stewart my "Peanuts" comic strip collection and my pin-ups of Snoopy, and to Douglas Armstrong I will my book "Ten Easy Lessons on Building Igloos in the South Seas."
I, Jimmy Kress, leave to Curtis Tucker my jet-propelled motor-cycle and my nickname of "Weed."
I, Judy Oliver, (better known as Long Tall Sally) bequeath to Nell Odum my tendency to look down on everybody.
I, Bruce Weicht, give to Terry Wright my old cigarette butts so he won't have to bum.
I, Linda Freeburg, will to Margaret Johnson my skill for writing unreadable shorthand and my knack for hiding things and then not being able to find them.
I, L.B. Jones, will to June Casten my 14 carat gold wall plaque with its motto: "I may not be a genius, but I'm friendly!"
I, Pat Rowland, will to Sharon Wolancewich my old love letters and my fondest memories of Z.H.S.
I, Sharon Forbes, will to Barbara Higginson my 101 Rest Book from band, with its 3,973 (count 'em) rests, and to Wayne Turner, I leave the "bug", with all accessories, including squeaks, rattles, dents, and two-toned horn.
I, Clayton Stokes, leave to Beatrice Pringle my engaging grin, showing my upper plate, and my nicknames of "Tatter", "Goose", and other endearing terms.
I, Rae Foster, bequeath to Sandra Princher my worn-out majorette boots and my position on the first row, with the Pep Band, at basketball games.
I, Preston Strickland, leave to Randy Lane my big ears and my gray hairs, and to Wayne Brunsdon I leave my talent for drawing cartoons on all the blackboards in school.
I, Louise Leopold, entrust to the next editor of the Zephyrscio five gallons of midnight oil, which are sure to be needed, and to David Smith my glasses in hopes that he will be able to see and understand Physics better than I did, and to Sarah Downs I leave my ability to change a flat tire and overhaul a motor in 57.3 seconds.
I, Victor Gerlach, bequeath to May McAllister my black leather jacket which has sheltered me from summer rain and winter cold and has lived to a ripe, old age, that is, for a leather jacket.

Signed and sealed as and for their last will and testament by the Senior Class of 1960, in the presence of these witnesses.

The Senior Class of 1960
PROPHECY

Come with us, the Senior Class of 1960, as we journey around the world - and even beyond - to see what the future holds for our incomparable classmates. Relax in the luxury of an ultra-modern jet airliner as we taxi down the run-way and take off from Zephyrhills Airport.

First we cross the Atlantic to Ireland, the Emerald Isle, where Clayton Stokes is a national hero. By accident, Clayton discovered 1001 new uses for the Irish potato; his book "Dij Ga Spud, Bud" is a non-fiction best-seller. You see he wasn't called "Tater" for nothing.

Now to the continent: Madrid, Spain, on the day of a bullfight - and what a celebration! Lady matador, Donna Campbell is being hailed with showers of roses and shouts of "Ole!". Donna is too kind-hearted to kill the bulls; she merely stuns them with a whiff of her favorite scent, "Petrifying".

In Paris, the fashion center of the world, Richard Riesen is the proprietor of Richards Chapeau Shoppe. The advertising slogan which made his elaborate bonnets famous is: "My feather hats will tickle your fancy."

Rome, Italy, was just a city of ancient ruins until Larry "Legs" Benjamin, formerly the star of the Bulldog Cagers, came to town to play pro basketball in the Colosseus. A capacity crowd saw Larry defeat the Harlem Globetrotters single-handed.

Atop an Alpine peak there stands a familiar figure in a mountain climber's costume. Those legs - I saw them in the 1960 Zephyrscio. It must be Gary Crist! He married a charming Swiss lass, and is at the moment practicing his newest talent - Yodeling!

Barbara Adams now lives with her husband in his native country of Germany. There she is teaching her German-born children to say some very important American words, such as: "Hey, man, that's real gone!" and "Like Wow!" and "You've got rocks in your head!", so they can converse with her American Friends.

Our stewardesses on this flight around the world are Lynn Nichols and Edelma Sergey. In her spare time, Lynn is teaching Mrs. Kayser's English Class, while Mrs. Kayser is in Stratford-on-Avon in England gathering information for a thesis on "The Mole on Shakespeare's Left Elbow". After working hours, Edelma sells souvenirs of Florida in Siberia. She is raking in money to be a lady miser.

While flying over the Dark Continent, we see a pleasant scene deep in the African jungle. Dodi Anderson has fulfilled her ambition to teach elementary Spanish to little ones. After graduating from Lady Knobhill's Finishing School, she is teaching the uses of the subjunctive to Pygmies.

On to the top of the world - Tibet - where Rae Foster is now a registered nurse. She graduated from the University of Northern Tibet's School of Nursing. (Chemistry is not a required subject in Tibet.)

In Moscow we find businesswoman Elaine McKendree managing the Russian branch of Zephyr Brand Dried Fruits, situated directly across from the Kremlin.

Confucius say, "We now nearing Hong Kong. Old classmate Janice Houck changey last name and she and husband run rickshaw service. Their coolies are the coolest."

Now we fly "down under" to see the girl we knew as Judy Oliver. She and her husband haven't made a fortune on their kangaroo ranch in Australia, but they always manage to stay a couple jumps ahead of their creditors.

Patty Sante and Jerry Peters liked their Hawaiian honeymoon so well that they are now living in a vine-covered beach hut on Waikiki Beach. Jerry commutes to the mainland and works hard in his dad's office, trying to support a large family and a large charge account.

After encircling the globe, we pay a visit to our South American neighbors. Janet Weicht and Norman Kirkland have gone into partnership and own a dry-cleaning plant on the Amazon River. They don't clean clothes - they clean the natives.

Brazil is world-renowned not only for its coffee but also for Brenda Daughtery's Chiropractical Rumba Studios for old men with arthritis. One, Two, Three, Ugh! One, Two, Three, Ouch!

As we approach Jamaica's shores, we hear a different rhythm; Barbara Haynes has that Calypso beat as she dances on the sands. Irene Nichols is way out, man, as her bongo player. Day-oooooo!

Nearing the end of our journey, we fly over the United States to Alaska. Frankie Coell and Cathy Skinner were married after graduation and are residing in the Land of the Midnight Sun. They have a huge split-level igloo with a double garage; you see, they are a two-dog-sled family.

Next, to the second largest state in the Union, where Pat Rowland has her hands full raising a family of blonde cowboys and Indians on the Weicht's Texas ranch. Bruce belongs to the "Flying Farmers of Texas!", and the whole gang visits the Coells in Alaska by helicopter every weekend.

Another rich friend of ours, Lee Blackden, in 1961, made a billion clams on Fizzles stock in the stock market phenomenon of all time. Lee is a philanthropist and travels incognito as a bum, enjoying the art of simply living.

J. W. Wells is practicing law in Ohio, when he is not coaching the Cleveland Browns in football or managing the Cleveland Indian Major League ball club. J. W.'s record is pretty good. He hasn't lost one case or gridiron match, and the Indians are winning the World Series.

Fasten your seat belts as we circle Idlewild International Airport. We are landing at New York, the Empire City, to visit the luxurious MAD Publications Offices, located at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Tinn Can Alley (Rear).

Libby Jarrett, who nearly went ma-- let us not use that term loosely - insane, while putting out the Bulldog Bulletin in high school, is Editor-In-Chief of America's favorite magazine.

Pursuing his art talent, Preston Strickland is Chief Cartoonist and Cover Illustrator for MAD. Preston is famous for his cover painting of Alfred E. Newman and the Prime Minister of Kalamazo, matching pennies.
PROPHECY

Gary Martinson is the adventurer and feature writer. This month’s issue carries his special article "I CAPTURED THE FIERCE FENISCSEA TARQUINUS", (better known as the common butterfly.)

Right now the MAD staff is launching a terrific sales campaign. Linda Lou Lohrum is the head saleswoman. Her method of madness is very successful. Imitating Santa Claus, she slides down the chimney if customers won’t let her in the door.

Louise Leopold is the fashion coordinator on the MAD staff. Look for the famous "Leech" label on the outside of your Mad T-shirts; no self-respecting Beatnik would be without one.

Speaking of Beatniks let’s be sure to take in Greenwich Village while in New York. Dick Dayton has taken residence there. His pad, dad, is the plainest, and he’s the craziest of all the Boho’s (Bohemians to you squrels).

Flying South toward home, we streak above our nations capital. Bonnie Reed was so impressed with Washington when we went there on our class trip that she never left. She took a job as an elevator operator in the Washington Monument, and was soon on her way up! Now Bonnie is a lady senator and has passed a bill abolishing home-work for upperclassmen.

By the way, did you know that Bob Baggett was the first 19 year-old President of the United States? His studies were interrupted for four years, but then he returned to Baylor University, and later graduated from medical school with these degrees: M.D., D.O., D.D.S., Ph.D., and A.R.S. (A Real Success) in initials!

Vivian Geiger and Jeannette Howell, odd as it may sound, are now the leaders of a Boy Scout Troop. They have slightly changed the purpose of the organization: the club is now for girls who want to scout for boys.

We have completed our flight around the world and are now cruising over our home state of Florida, where Robert Campbell has done earth-shaking things since graduation. He is now a big-time machine salesman and made his first fortune by selling the state a new type of earth-moving machine, which has been used to make a subdivision out of the Everglades.

L.B. Jones designed the new Chevy "bug" of the future, which is on display in Zephyrhills. This unique little car doesn’t run on gas, electricity, or solar energy - passengers pedal!

Cape Canaveral, Florida, will be our jet-liner’s last stop. Della Fae Smith and Carolyn Jarrett have top government positions there. Della Fae is a very private secretary for top secret operations and is invaluable to the United States because she so confuses the records that the Russians can’t possibly decipher them. Carolyn, known as the "Girl with the Golden Finger", plays the most important part in the launching of every missile - she pushes the button that fires it.

In keeping with our class motto of "Upward forever, ceasing never", some members of our class joined the outer space movement which was sweeping the country in 1960, so we’ll change our mode of travel and visit them. Put on your space helmet, climb aboard the Interplanetary Rocket Stratalliner, and prepare to blast off. Five, four, three, two, one -- Thank you, Carolyn!

First the rocket must stop at the U.S. Space Station X69 to make final preparations for the long journey. Here we find two familiar figures. Joe Laviano, a good will trumpet player who quells international crises with his soothing contemporary jazz, is currently giving a concert at the Interplanetary Summit Conference. And remember Bill Simmons, who always wanted a life of leisure? Well, in a fantastic Physics experiment, Bill defeated the Law of Gravity and is now in a state of suspended animation, floating along-side the Space Station one half mile up.

Leaving the Space Station, we have been provided with a guard of three to protect us from any unfriendly spacemen. Jimmy Kress, Victor Gerlach, and our one fly-girl, Juanita Summerall, are now members of the Interplanetary Space Patrol, Huckleberry Hound Division.

At last we reach the ultimate point on our itinerary -- the Moon! Here we find the two members of our class who are the farthest out of all. Linda Freeburg and Sharon Forbes turned out to be pioneers. After graduating from business college, they established their own college on the Moon. They have the only accredited school that offers XLE-ORT for XLE-NITS. (That’s Moon-talk for Simple Shorthand for Simple-minded people.)

All that we, the Class of ‘60 have to add to these words of prophecy is: If this is the future, We Like It!.

IN MEMORIAM . . .

Last as the rolling seasons bring
The hour of fate to those we love,
Each pearl that leaves the broken string,
Is set in Friendships' crown above.
As narrower grows the earthly chain,
The circle widens in the sky;
These are our treasures that remain,
But those are stars that beam on high.
